Lakeland's Little Learners

November 2023

Hello November!

The cold weather is officially here. In order to go outside we do need to have jackets on, sweatshirts are no longer enough. Please send your child to LLL with appropriate footwear, clothing, and outerwear. If their outerwear will not fit into their backpack, please send them with an additional reusable bag to put their items in (no plastic disposable bags). I've been seeing many students with chapped lips and hands. We can apply chap stick and/or lotion if needed. Simply bring in the product to class and I will have you complete a pink medical sheet.

Thank you! Mrs. Casey

Coming up in SA1

When the class voted for this month's lesson plan theme, it was a tie between Cooking and Thanksgiving. We decided it was only fair to do a combination of these two concepts for the month of November.

Pumpkin Pie in a Bag

This will be a no-bake recipe for a delicious pumpkin pie treat. Students will identify fractions and numbers to measure ingredients, mix liquids and solids, then observe and taste the results in this tasty activity.

Giving Back

Fellow Mortals is a local wildlife rescue that has been generous with their time by sharing their knowledge, experience, and animals with the LLL children. We will be doing a coin collection for them and purchasing items off their "Winter Wish" list with the change we collect.

Creating Connection

Child Safety & Protection Month

November is Child Safety and Protection Month, it's a perfect time to revisit the fundamentals of staying safe before the holidays.

Talk to your child(ren) about dangerous situations and how to be aware of their surroundings. What do they do if they are lost or separated from you at a busy store or holiday parade?

Take time to discuss emergency plans with them, such as for storms, fires, or if the power goes out. Do they know where flashlights are? Do they know what the smoke alarm sounds like? Help them learn important phone numbers. How to call for help, 911, on your cell phone.

Special Dates

- ◆ November 7 - Library on the Go, after school visit
- ◆ November 9 - Special presenter after school
- ◆ November 22-24 - EASD No School, Holiday Break
- ◆ November 23 - Happy Thanksgiving (LLL Closed)
- ◆ November 27 - Scholastic Book Fair begins at LLL
- ◆ December 4 - EASD In-Service/No School Day

Last month...

In October, the SA1 class had a great time enjoying the fall season! We loved sampling a variety of apples while describing their differences and similarities. We couldn't stop playing candy corn bingo (with sight words) and balloon ball. We did a fascinating "invisible writing" science experiment with turmeric and baking soda. Also, the popcorn party we had on Halloween was a crowd favorite!

REMINDERS

- Label winter outerwear items so we can get them back to the correct student, if left at the center or on the bus.
- Contact the office for any schedule changes for Thanksgiving Break before Nov. 10 for November 22 and 24. Before Nov. 22 for December 4.
