LAKELAND'S LITTLE LEARNERS ♥ SCHOOL AGE 1 ♥ 2026

HELLO!

Hi Families - Can you believe the holidays are approaching and winter is right around the corner. This means that multiple school breaks are coming up. Please look at your calendars and let the LLL office staff know if you need to schedule childcare for days off school. Also, cool and wet weather is in the forecast. Students need proper outdoor gear when we go outside, especially on cool mornings while waiting for the bus. Please send them with coats, hats, and gloves. Thank you, Mrs. Casey

CREATING CONNECTION

Child Safety & Protection Month

November is Child Safety and Protection Month; it's a perfect time to revisit the fundamentals of staying safe. Talk to your child(ren) about dangerous situations and how to be aware of their surroundings. What do they do if they are lost or separated from you at a busy store or holiday parade? Take time to discuss emergency plans, such as for storms, fires, or if the power goes out. Do they know where flashlights are? Do they know what the smoke alarm sounds like? Help them learn important phone numbers and how to call for help, 911, on a cell phone.

LAST MONTH

October was full of seasonal fun. There is so much to explore when the seasons are changing. The class enjoyed our pumpkin comparisons activity. It was interesting to watch them explore the small, medium, and large pumpkin. Apple tasting is always a hit. They were able to discover the five tastes of their tongue.

LOOKING AHEAD

GIVING BACK

Our class will be starting a holiday food collection for canned and dried goods. These items will be donated to the county food bank. Donate if you can, have your child help pick out some items that they would like to give. The class will take great pride in giving back to their community.

NO BAKE SNACKS

With the holidays coming up, our class will be trying a few new recipes. The class will have opportunities to read recipes, measure ingredients, and observe how the different elements come together. Most importantly, we will be tasting our yummy creations!
