Lakeland's Little Learners

NOVEMBER 2022

Hello November!

Hi Everyone, the cooler wet weather is here. Please make sure your child is appropriately dressed for the weather, we do still go outside daily if weather permits. Coats, gloves, and hats should be labeled with their name. If items are left in the classroom, labeling makes it easier for us to get items returned to you. Also, reusable durable grocery bags are required to hold all their extra gear (not single use plastic bags). I've seen large ones at Aldi and Home Goods for reasonable price points. Thank you!

Coming Up...

Compliment Circles

A compliment circle is an activity that teaches students how to give and receive compliments. The idea is that in a compliment circle every student will give a compliment to one classmate and every student will receive a compliment from another classmate.

Dancing Corn

The dancing corn experiment is a science experiment showcasing a simple chemical reaction (baking soda and vinegar). The class will have the opportunity to share their predictions on what will happen when the ingredients are placed into the jar. We will be discussing why this reaction happens.

Creating Connection

Serving Others

The holiday season is quickly approaching, which opens the door for many volunteer opportunities and chances to serve others. Taking the time, with your child, to volunteer together can set a wonderful example for serving others that are less fortunate and giving back to the community. Watch for opportunities with local churches, schools, food banks, and non-profits. Gathering together items to donate can also be a great way to help others.

Family Stories Month

November is Family Stories Month. The holiday season is a great time to get together with friends and family to share stories from the past. Encourage your child to ask questions when gathering with others or pull out old photos to see and talk about.

Last month...

In October, the class has had so much fun inside and out enjoying the warm fall days. I've seen friendships beginning to form and the children continually becoming more confident and comfortable with our classroom routines. They have been mastering their classroom jobs and looking forward to their weekly tasks. They also loved learning more about Wisconsin cheese making, leaf printing, and experimenting with pine cones.
