Lakeland's Little Learners May 2022

Spring is Here

Spring is here and with the nice green grass and the warm weather come some possibilities of severe weather. Please make sure you review a game plan with your kids in case they get caught up by themselves during some inclement weather.

Upcoming Events

- ◆ May 20 - WB Spring Concert and Art Auction
- ◆ May 23-27 - LLL Scholastic Book Fair
- ◆ May 27 - The Bay Zoo Field Trip
- ◆ May 30 - Memorial Day (No School)
- ◆ May 31 - The Bay Field Day

Last Month in Our Room

All About Ocean

As everyone knows, last month we had two weeks of spring break leaving us only two weeks of school in the month of April. We hardly got started with learning about the ocean and break came; then, we came back from break and we started to enjoy some of the nicer days outside. We did however get a chance to design and draw our own fish which will be used for a large scale fishing game using real fishing poles with magnets instead of hooks. Hopefully everyone can catch a paper fish because nobody likes to go home after a fishing trip empty handed.

This month in our room...

At the beginning of this month the students will continue to work on our ocean unit with many exciting activities yet to come. Once we have completed the planned ocean activities we will shift our focus to the vast unknown of outer space.
