March Into April

The month of March was full of magic and mysteries. As a class we solved roughly 30 riddles before heading off to school. Using our knowledge of riddles we went on a full classroom riddle hunt. Students had fun finding objects around the room and then turning them into "Spot the Difference" games. Pictures were taken and put on the SmartBoard so that we could work together to find the differences. We worked on trying to decipher eight different scents. Most everyone liked the smell of lemon and peppermint but were not fans of lavender and clove. We worked diligently on creating colorful traps for the leprechauns, but due to the blizzard we were not able to put them out to catch those wee feisty creatures. Hopefully next year! Everyone had fun seeing how different magic trick items worked and then putting those discoveries into practice. We were surprised when the mathematical card trick "13" worked every time.

April will be filled with a variety of activities to help us relax. Using old plastic bottles we will create colorful sensory bottles to enjoy. While in class we will have the opportunity to listen to a variety of calming music from the world. Our game cabinet doors will be a place to create a no theme class mural using permanent markers. Everyone will decorate a personal popsicle stick and then each morning they can share how they are feeling by placing their stick into a container that represents that feeling. The game "Ouisi" will be available to use, this game is great for making different connections using colorful cards containing nature and everyday items. We will be making a healthy snack to enjoy before heading off to school. Throughout the month we will work on a small present for Teacher Appreciation Week, these presents will go to the teachers at the center at the beginning of May.

Creating Connections

It's now spring, the weather is warming up and the sun is out for longer and longer. Now would be a perfect time to get the family together and head outside. You might find new shoots of grass or buds on bushes and trees. You can enjoy the sight of the birds returning and more creatures coming out to play.

There might even be a variety of insects that have been hiding away during these cold months. You could keep a list of what you have found on your journey outdoors. Local parks and trails are both good places to enjoy the weather and experience the beauty of nature. You might even want to visit local streams, rivers, and lakes, but it might be a bit chilly to test out the waters.
